Alpine Exteriors certified as National Storm Damage Center Preferred Contractor
Illinois construction and restoration company obtains exclusive certification

CHICAGO – Alpine Exteriors obtains Preferred Contractor Certification from National Storm Damage Center (NSDC). Alpine Exteriors is a leader in storm damage repairs, residential and commercial construction and restoration services throughout Illinois.

The NSDC is an independent consumer advocacy organization that helps property owners source quality construction and restoration companies for repairs after storm events. The National Storm Damage Center is an independent consumer advocacy organization that assists residential and commercial property owners navigate the insurance restoration process by providing advocacy information.

"Our vendor screening and application process is highly stringent. We're excited to have Alpine Exteriors in our network of preferred contractors," says Trevor Leeds, CEO of National Storm Damage Center.

The NSDC screening process provides certification to select companies that have passed a thorough background investigation and ensures companies are licensed, insured and reputable. Taking their approval and certification process a step further, the NSDC recently signed an agreement with Global Risk Management Solutions (GRMS), the renowned leader in providing vendor screening solutions. This partnership provides enhanced certification and screening standards of storm restoration companies nationwide.

"The NSDC certification brings a level of education, information and resources to a property owner after a storm and it connects them to licensed and certified contractors so they're not being taken advantage of by storm chasers or an insurance carrier who attempts to reduce the amount of their claim or deny it altogether," says Trevor Leeds, CEO of National Storm Damage Center.

Alpine Exteriors has helped thousands of homeowners, commercial property owners, and property management companies with storm damage repairs throughout Illinois since 1999. Alpine Exteriors specializes in storm damage repairs to residential and commercial properties from hurricanes, tornadoes, and hailstorms. Alpine Exteriors provides top-notch construction, restoration and storm damage repair services resulting from hailstorms, tornadoes, wind and water damage. Areas served include Chicago, Evanston, Winnetka, Glencoe, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates, Barrington, Lake Zurich, Gurnee, Grayslake, Deerfield, Buffalo Grove, Aurora, McHenry, Crystal Lake, Algonquin, Carol Stream, and Naperville. Alpine Exteriors is equipped to manage every detail including siding, windows, drywall, flooring, paint, gutters to rebuilding residential and commercial properties after major storm events and wind and water damage resulting from hurricanes, tornadoes, and hailstorms.

"After the National Storm Damage Center's recent partnership with Global Risk Management Solutions and their high-level of screening required to obtain preferred status, we are extremely proud to be an partner with the Certified National Storm Damage Center," says Steve Shanton, CEO and founder of Alpine Exteriors.

The recent partnership with GRMS provides an added layer to vet storm restoration contractors and companies. The NSDC provides a third-party platform for property owners to connect with experienced storm restoration contractors with free property inspections, and helps property owners work through the insurance claim process while ensuring all parties are fairly represented.

“GRMS provides innovative vendor screening solutions. As we grow the NSDC platform, it’s critical that we’re able to properly screen certified contractors in our network,” says Trevor Leeds, CEO of National Storm Damage Center.
